

Forex Grinder Installation

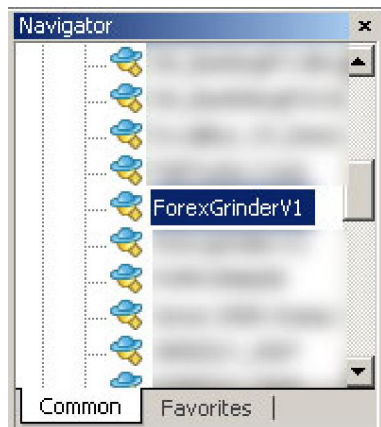

You will need to copy and paste the ForexGrinderV1.ex4 file to your experts folder where you installed your Metatrader4 platform. Usually it is C:\Program Files\Metatrader 4\experts but it's possible you could have it installed in another directory. If so then you will need to find it, and place the ForexGrinderV1.ex4 into its experts folder.

Once you have got it in the right folder, load up your Metatrader4 terminal and follow these instructions.

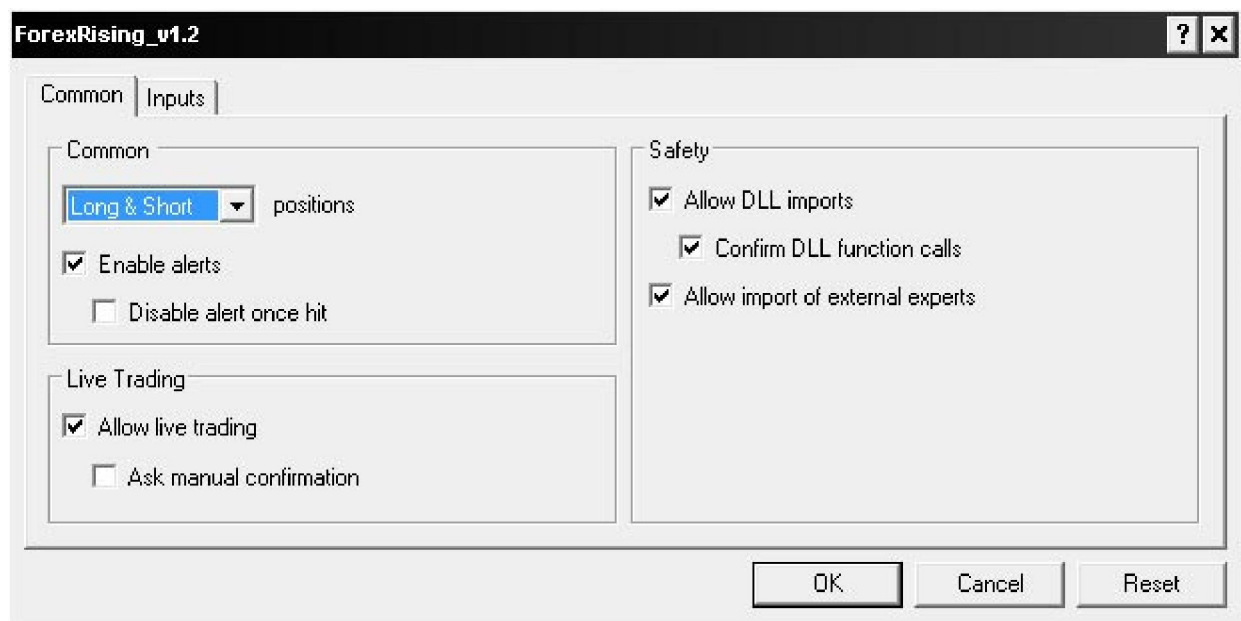

Below is the Navigator Menu. If you do not see it on the left hand side of the platform, then press CTRL+N. You will want to click the + beside Expert Advisors to show all the expert advisors in your experts folder. This is where you should have moved the ForexGrinderV1.ex4 to.

If you placed the .ex4 file in the right folder, then you will see it like below. Open your new chart for whatever currency pair you are going to trade, and then drag and drop the ForexGrinderV1 onto the chart.

After dropping it on the chart, this box will appear. This box may appear on the inputs tab showing all the settings. If so, make sure you go to the Common tab and it looks exactly like this. You can then click the Inputs tab to go change the settings if need be. When you are done, press OK.

Ok so you set all your settings, and pressed ok, now on your chart you should see ForexGrinderV1 on the top right of the chart. It will have a little smiley face, an 'x' or a sad face beside it.

Smiley face = everything is fine and running. You will see trades within 24 hours.

Sad face = You didn't check the Allow live trade shown above. You can fix this by pressing F7 to get the box to pop back up.

X = Expert advisors are disabled. Look at the picture below, and make sure it's not red. If so, click it to activate expert advisors and it will turn green.

You are now up and running. Enjoy!
